RETURNING GOLD HUNTERS KILLING AND EATING A COMRADE.—An old man from Pike's Peake gold mines has arrived at (leveland, and tells the following sad story: "On the tenth day out from the mines, on their return, two of the party that the old man, his son and nephew had come upon had died of starvation. They were buri-ed by their comrades. One of them was from Morrow County, Ohio. His name was James Richards. The other was from New Hampshire, but the old man did not remember his name. The wretched party crawled on until the next day, when another died and was buried, like those who had died the day before. Matters were now appallingly desperate, and one of the party proposed they should draw lots to see which one should be killed and eaten by the rest!-This was done, tremblingly and silently, and the old man's nephew was the unhappy loser in the terrible game for life. He was dispatched by one of the survivors of the party they had overtaken, and eaten by the misersble men. The next day, towards night, they met an outward bound train. They pounced upon the oxen and slew them outright before the astonished owners could offer a word of remonstrance. They at length reached St. Joseph, where they separated. The old man and his son found a friend who loaned them sufficient money to take them home .-The son was with his father, and fully corroborated what is related above.

Garibaldi's Boys. The following is from a letter in the Siecle: "I do not know if you have read in some f-reign journals the strange exaggerations on the subject of Garibaldi's volunteers. It has been said that this little army corps is the refuse of persons more or less compromised; they have been represented as so many "reiters" or "lanzknechts" soldiers of the wallet and cord, who despise all discipline, and are only fit to a make a hold stroke in enterprises by night. Not a word of it is true. There is not a regiment in Europe where discipline is more severely carried out than in the companies of volunteers. Garibaldi chooses the men, and when he does not personally know those who come and offer their services to him, he does not accept them without good references.-This volunteer corps is composed, besides, in great part, of young men belonging to the best families of Naples, Bologne, Modena, Parma, and especially of Milan.

THE WHEAT CROP. - We have within the past few days conversed with persons from various parts of this county, and all concur in the belief that the vield of wheat this season will be much larger than for several years past, unless checked by some unforseen cause. We hear none of the usual croaking manufacturers that should receive the counamong our farmers-nearly all appear perfeetly satisfied with the promising condition of their crops. The Fly and Rust, it is true, have stricken the wheat in some localities, but made their appearance too late to do any serious damage. Everything at the present time augurs favorably for a crop of wheat rarely excelled in quantity and quality. All that our farmers now want is, such weather harvest. - Warrenton Flag.

THE BLACK HORSE CAVALRY. - This company was regularly organized on Saturday. The election of Officers was superintended according to law, by the Commandant of the Regiment, and as soon the Commissions shall be received from the Governor, the company will uniform at once. Jno. Scott, esq., was known to our community for her capabilities unanimously elected Captain, and Robert as a hostess, assisted by Mr. Frank Fox, for-Randolph and Charles Gordon, esqs., were elected first and second Lieutenants. The company is composed of the first young men in Fauquier, and if ever the hour shall come when the country shall need the services of any of her sons, we doubt not the gallant Scott and his brave band will be ever ready to the nation's call. Long live the Fauquier Black Horse. - Warrenton Whig.

A CARD. - In the Alexandria Sentinel of the 1st inst., there appears a communication, dated Jeffersonton, Culpeper County, in which allusion is so directly made to me, as to call for a brief notice at my hands. This guardian of the bailot box, as he modestly parades himself in his com-munication, is doubtless the same wise prophet who predicted for Smith a large majority at this precinct, embracing from 16 to 20 Whigs, that he knew Smith would get. His prophecy not being fulfilled by the result, he seeks to protect his repu tation as a seer, by charging "a very grave mis-take," upon the Clerk, who is the subscriber of this piece. He saw from his chosen "situation" our mistake that was "promptly corrected," and charitably insinuates upon the testimony of a friend, "requested to take his place," that many more like mistakes occurred in the "6 or 8 hours previous," that the Clerk who was a "Thomas man" did not correct. Hence the small majority. How self-complacent, how just, and how logical his suggestion!! Now the facts in the premises se-Keeping two polls, as I did, during frequent interruptions, by calls for a statement of the polls, as is usual in the evening, I found it some-what difficult to enter every vote in the proper column, and sometimes found myself entering for Smith a vote cried for Thomas, and cice ressa. In the case referred to, I was in the act of correcting the mistake, when my attention was called to

An inspection of the those overlars and will small countries. if any Whig or Democrat can be found, whose poll book will easily disclose all such mistakes. 1 further say that it any person means to insinuate them at $1.75 per gallon. that I knowingly misrecorded a single vote, he is a wifful, malicious, and deliberate falsifier of the truth. I am an humble unpretending citizen, but my reputation, I flatter myself, is as good as that rance may have betrayed him into the easting of aspersions, by inuendo upon my character.

But says this modern Solon: "The Legislature should require the name of each voter to be en-dorsed on his ticket, and all the tickets to be filed for future reference." He had better first get the Legislature to require the use of tickets at all .-He seems to think tickets a legal institution Three stars with their blended light, this judge adopts for his signature; we think one small luminary sufficient to denote the brilliancy of his genius-and would advise him when he next appears to divide by three, and take the quotient in their stead.
